Bernhardt Consulting Co. Adds Nutrients for Life Canada as Newest Client

Albuquerque, N.M., (September 7, 2017) – Nutrients for Life Canada is the newest client of the Bernhardt Consulting Co. who will assist Nutrients for Life with its fund development initiatives.

“I am very excited to be working with Nutrients for Life Canada to help them with fund development,” said Randy Bernhardt, president of Bernhardt Consulting Co. “Nutrients for Life Canada’s mission to educate Canadians about food production, plant nutrients and soil science, is vital for the agricultural industry.”

Nutrients for Life trains teachers in Canada with curriculum-aligned resources and activities demonstrating the role of nutrients in plant production. Nutrients for Life Canada provides science-based educational resources on food production, plant nutrients and soil science free to teachers throughout Canada. The organization’s learning gardens provide learning experiences about the role of plant nutrients in food production.

“I look forward to working with Bernhardt Consulting Co. to make Nutrients for Life Canada more sustainable in the years to come,” said Tamara Sealy, executive director and regional manager, Nutrients for Life Canada. “Agriculture education and awareness is a must in the Canadian educational system because so many youths are 3 - 5 generations removed from the farm”.

ABOUT NUTRIENTS FOR LIFE CANADA

Founded in 2008, Nutrients for Life educates Canadians about the sustainable use of nutrients to increase soil health and quality, improve production of nutritious food and preserve green spaces. Nutrients for Life “teaches the teachers” in Canada with curriculum-aligned resources, and activities demonstrating the role of nutrients in plant production. We create parallels to modern agriculture and support meaningful learning about plant nutrition and food security. For more information, visit our website: <https://www.nutrientsforlife.ca/>
